

RUSSIANS DRIVE NAZIS FROM VYAZMA

MEAT, BUTTER,
CHEESE RATION
PROGRAM SET

Announced March 29 as Starting Date for New Food Allotments.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 12—
Meat, butter and mutton will be rationed at an average of about two pounds a week for home consumption starting Monday, March 29. Rationing of butter, cheese, eggs, poultry and oils and canned fruit will start at the same time.

Through this long-expected action, the government hopes to even up the civilian supplies, which have been curtailed by large diversions to the armed forces and lend-lease. Local shortages are expected to disappear quickly.

Harold B. Rowe, in charge of food rationing, at the office of price administration, said the allotments would be proper in the light of the rationing limits which will be in effect from March 29 to June 1.

"The meat ration," he said,
"probably will be more than many low income families will be able to afford, although less than the average purchases of middle- or high income families."

In the light of existing rationing programs, the new plan will bring restrictions to the largest part of the typical American diet.
Still unrationed on the basis of today's announcement will be milk, cereals, fresh fruits and vegetables, bakery goods, and meat specialties such as relishes.

From the customer's viewpoint, the unrationed oasis of food will be the restaurant or other public eating place. These places will be relied on for their supplies, but will not collect coupons.

Details of the program were announced partly last night by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R.
Wickard and partly this morning by Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown.

Two Foods Liberalized
America's diet this week was lightened up within a few hours after two other food programs were liberalized. Coffee rations were restored to the one pound per person for five weeks. Instead of the current six weeks. Coupon stamps reduced for raisins, prunes and dried beans to 100 per cent. Unsalted packages of dates and figs were made ration-free.

The 3-pound meat ration, estimated by Wickard, was a calculation of the amount of meat that will be available for citizens to buy for home consumption. It divided equally without regard to types of cuts.
Since meat killed by farmers for their own use will be rationed and since customers will not have to give up coupons for meat in restaurants, Wickard said, the total civilian meat supply would average 24 pounds per person per week. Last year's consumption was a little over 23 1/2 pounds.

Actually every person, regardless of age, will get at least one pound of meat a week. At least 18 ration points will be used to get the meat. He chooses meat, chicken, edible fats and oils and canned fruit. He may use more or less of his points as he desires for meat instead of the other items, and the weight of meat he gets for his points also will depend on whether he buys steak or spare ribs.

May Accumulate Points
Although the initial allotment will be 10 points per person per week, consumers will be allowed to accumulate and use their points during approximately a month's period. Thus, in the week beginning March 29, each person will be able to use only 10 points for the "A" coupons in the following week. In the following week, he will be able to use any left-over points plus another 10 points—the "B" coupons. He can keep on using these leftovers plus each week's new allotment of points until April 30, when all of the coupons of the first four weeks will expire together.

One difference between this system and the current goods coupon plan is that butchers and stores will be able to give "change" in points to customers having an excess number of coupon points to pay for a purchase. On consumers, "change" is permitted in the form of payments must be exact.

Over the point system will be the same in nearly all respects as the one now in use for canned fruit and dried vegetables and fruits. The same ration book will be used. In fact, with the new rationing, Page 8)

MARION NAVY MAN
PRISONER OF JAPS

Notice Received by Mother of Wm. J. Gibson.

Mrs. Stella B. Gibson of 180 Chicago avenue has received a letter from the Navy department, bureau of naval personnel, Washington, D. C., stating that her son, William J. Gibson, reported "missing" in July last year, is being held as a prisoner of war by the Japanese in the Philippine Islands.

She heard directly from her son on March 19 last year while she was in San Pedro, Calif., where she made her home for six years before returning to Marion in April last year. The letter was dated Feb. 14, 1942.

Prior to entering the Navy in July 1935, Gibson was employed at the Marion Steam Shovel Co. plant. He was graduated from Harding High school in 1934.

Mrs. Gibson has another son in service, Robert Gibson, who enlisted in the U. S. Coast Guard last September. He visited his mother here on Jan. 7, enroute to California from the U. S. Coast Guard Training Station at Groton, Conn., where he had been taking a three months' course of training.

DUCHESS DIES
LONDON, March 12—The Vichy press in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press, quoted announcement from Vienna today as regarding the death of the Duchess Elizabeth of Belgium.

Officials Call Dimout
"Most Satisfactory"

Few Flaws Reported in Countywide Defense Test; Another Scheduled in Two Weeks.

Approximately 1,100 Marion city civilian defense workers mobilized last night in a test dimout of the entire county that was generally described by CD officials as "very effective." This was the first countywide mobilization since the inception of the civilian defense program.

A second countywide dimout will be staged within two weeks in preparation for an area blackout under state orders, William R. Martin, local civilian defense coordinator, said this morning.

The mobilization call was flashed to control headquarters in the North State Street school at 8:35
p. m. Twenty minutes later the dimout signal was flashed, and factory whistles warned all residents of Marion to turn out lights in their residences. Street lights were not turned out. Automobile drivers were instructed to proceed with dimmed lights.

The all clear came 45 minutes later. The all clear was delayed longer than usual in tests to give observers time to cover rural territories and check on compliance with the test.

Reports of Lights
Eighteen calls were received at control headquarters, reporting lights burning in various parts of the city. Most were in residences, although a few reported parked automobiles with lights burning.

In practically all cases residents complained with warden's requests to turn out the lights. There were a few, however, who refused to comply, but did so after a telephone call from officials at control headquarters.

Called "Most Satisfactory"
William R. Martin, city civilian defense coordinator, and Earl Ruhlman, chief of air raid warning, said this morning that Marion's participation in the first countywide dimout test was "most satisfactory," except for a few instances which will be investigated.

Two were Marion business places, a third was an automobile driver who refused to dim his lights, and the fourth was a resident who, in the blackout last December, refused to extinguish house lights and did not comply with the signal.

One of the business places was reported to have left its lights burning until an air raid warning came, they were turned out.
The warden reported he went back a few minutes later, and found the lights out again. He said the lights were again turned out at his request, but that a short time later were on again.

After going through this procedure, the warden reported that the lights were out, and a patrolman visited the business place.
The lights went out, and stayed out for the remainder of the di-mout period. According to police they were given assurance that the proprietor said there would be no trouble in the future.

Mr. Ruhlman said there was considerable confusion over the signals, despite explicit instructions printed several times in The Star and broadcast by radio. The main trouble he said was that the first blast of whistles, which had been taken by many as the signal for mobilizing the workers, was taken for many as the signal for the dimout and lights were extinguished. As a result, when the second blast of whistles sounded signaling the dimout, quite a few persons turned on lights again. Within a matter of minutes, the confusion was dissipated.

As in the blackout held several weeks ago some trouble was experienced with illuminated billboards. But Earl Ruhlman, chief air raid warden, declared this was the first of the warden's assessment on which illuminated signs are located are supplied with keys to turn out the lights.

All units of the civilian defense organization were mobilized and the test differed from the recent blackout only that the street lights were left burning and automobile traffic was permitted to proceed with caution.

Edge of City Lighted
Some areas adjacent to the city limits were not blacked out by the dimout, but an effective defense organization outside the city.
One case of this kind was reported on North Main street last night when lights were burning north of Copeland avenue.

Two members of the Morrow county civilian defense organization were at control headquarters last night to observe the operation of the dimout. They were A. L. Wallace, Morrow county civilian defense commander, and George W. Phillips, a member of the county's auxiliary police.

On Duty at Station
Mr. Ruhlman was in command at the control center in the absence of W. E. Orutt, assistant city coordinator who was one of the inspectors of the county participation. Also on duty at the center were W. W. Hoffman, controller; Desk Sgt. Louis Reardon, police; H. K. Mouser, medical;
Amson Pickel and Mrs. Ruby
Davis, air raid wardens; C. W.
Stofford, fire; John Moore and W. G. McPeck, road repair and public utilities; Mrs. Frances Norris, communications officer, and a staff of telephonists; Mrs. Earl Ruhlman, record clerk, and a full complement of typists, motor cycle messengers and guards.

Auxiliary police were stationed around the control center and along the streets to observe the operation of the dimout.

13 Billions Sought In Next War Loan Drive

WASHINGTON, March 12—A goal of $13,000,000,000, largest in world history, has been set for the second war loan drive to be launched a month from today.

The treasury department said it would seek $8,000,000,000 of the total from non-banking sources, and Secretary Morgenthau called on every American to invest "to the limit of his ability."

The first loan campaign in December had a $9,000,000,000 goal but actually raised $12,800,000,000.

HITLER REPORTED ILL
By The Associated Press
LONDON, March 12—Reuters said today in a dispatch datelined "Inside Europe" that Adolf Hitler was "slightly reported to be recovering in his seclusion at Berchtesgaden after recent nerve strain."

NEW YORK, N. Y., March 12—Warrenton, Ore., was paid to the management and workers of the Huber Manufacturing Co. of Marion, O., makers of rollers and scrapers for airports, by British Information

war area where some of the company's products are being put to war use.

"Singed out for mention was Harry Weiss, a former Huber employee who had expressed his support of the United Nations by placing friendly notes in the equipment he packed to the front lines in the United States Army and was stationed at Camp Custer, Mich. In commenting about the war area for use in leveling and scraping airfields, the cable quoted Sergeant George Jurgens, who is in charge of spares for 800 kinds of American-made equipment at the British base's store depot.

"The main thing," Jurgens said, "is that the packers provide us with very fine guides to the spare parts, and that they pack them singly, solidly, and in a way easy to sort out. We have established contact with all of the workers who make the Huber products. He is Harry Weiss of Marion, O., who puts cheering little notes in with his packing."

of the men who work in this having replies from him soon."

American, ranging from electric light plants to compressor trucks for pumping water and rollers of the Huber firm.

"I have been in charge of American stores in another area as well as here," he said,
"and I have found that in spite of the difference in climate and conditions, they have stood up to their work very well."

"When they arrive here, although they have been a very long while at sea, they always arrive in first class condition.
I put this down to the care taken in designing the form of packing, and the skill and care with which the actual packers do up the items."

"Even the tiniest screws are done up so that they can't get lost, while all spares are sent on a very generous scale.
Where a manufacturer suspects that one part may weaken before the others, he always sends plenty of extra spares for the part."

Was in Repair Department According to J. O. Weiss, of the Somerford Pike in Pleasant township, Harry was employed in the repair department of the Huber company. Mr. Weiss, an uncle of Harry, said Harry was about 25

Huber Manufacturing Co.

Praised by British Agency for War Production Work

Former Employee Who Sent Encouraging Notes Along with War Shipments Wins Special Commendation.

A Marion industrial concern today received a figurative "B" honor rating from a division of the British government for its part in the production of equipment used by British engineers in the conversion of overseas war area wastelands to airfields to accommodate allied bombers.

The concern, The Huber Manufacturing Co., was lauded highly in a news release received today by The Star from the British Information Service in New York City and Harry Weiss, a former Huber employee now a U. S. Army private at Camp Custer, Mich., was especially praised for his words of encouragement sent to British forces in the form of brief notes attached to the company's products.

Weiss, son of Mrs. Lulu Weiss of Delaware county, left Marion Dec. 19 with a Board 3 selective service group. The group went to Ft. Benjamin, Harrison, Ind.
Weiss later was assigned to the Michigan post.

NEW KHARKOV

BATTLE IS AT CRITICAL STAGE

Germans Claim To Be Fighting in Streets of Soviet Steel Center.

BULLETIN
By The Associated Press
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS
IN NORTH AFRICA, March 12—Allied bombers and fighters began softening Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's troop positions and supply lines in the Mareth area yesterday as British and American ground forces beat off three attacks by Col. Gen. Jurgen Von Arnim in North Tunisia. It was announced today that Axis infantry and artillery struck in the Mareth area and again at British defenses near Tameria, seven miles west of Sedjenane in the north, but each time the enemy was driven back with considerable losses, field accounts said.

By The Associated Press
Adolf Hitler's invasion armies were reported to have abandoned the key city of Vyazma, 130 miles west of Moscow, while in the south the bloody third battle for Kharkov reached a critical stage today as the Germans threw in masses of fresh reserves and gained new ground.

The German high command said Nazi troops were already fighting in the streets of Kharkov, the Soviet Pittsburgh, which Red army forces recaptured Feb.
10.

Frontline dispatches said the Russians were bleeding the enemy while, but conceded that the defenders were outnumbered by German reserves.

Central Front
On the central front, a Berlin broadcast said German troops evacuated Vyazma according to plans "after virtually blowing the town to smithereens." The Russians were the last to hold the city, but the last night of defense, the city was recaptured by the Red army. It is 100 miles to the west. With it, the Russians now have strong flank protection for assaults on the German bases at Orsk, 175 miles southwest of Vyazma, and Bryansk, 130 miles south.

While the Red army pursued the Nazis along the Vyazma-Smolensk highway, the army of Moscow is driving toward Smolensk from newly recaptured Bely. They were reported to have seized 16 towns and villages and killed more than 600 Germans.

Smolensk is 80 miles southwest of Bely.

In the struggle for Kharkov, approximately 375,000 fresh German troops were reported storming against the steel center from two sides, and the Russians declared the enemy was trying at all costs to break through to the city.

In its mid-day communique, Soviet headquarters announced:
"South of Kharkov, our troops repelled fierce enemy attacks." West of Kharkov, strong enemy tank and infantry forces stormed our positions. At the cost of heavy losses, the enemy succeeded in pressing back our units."

On the southern front, the bitter fighting is deepening behind the southern end of the Mareth line as Field Marshal Erwin Rommel struck out against flanking British 8th army forces near Kar-thlane, and first official account said the Germans had suffered another heavy blow.

Nazis Lose Heavily
Karthlane lies 45 miles west of Fom, Tahaloult, at the southern end of the 60-mile-long Mareth defense works.

"Heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy and many vehicles were left burning," said a communique from Gen.
Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters.

The communique said the battle was continuing with Rommel apparently making a desperate attempt to break the ring, which
Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's

JOBS FOR SOLDIERS
PUT UP TO CONGRESS

President Touches on Post-War Recommendations.

WASHINGTON, March 12—
President Roosevelt said today that it is squarely up to congress whether the nation would have a great post-war delay in providing jobs for men leaving the armed services and war industries.

The Chief Executive, talking at his press conference, did not go into any of the broad recommendations for post-war programs drawn up by the national resources planning board and submitted to congress Wednesday.

But he did say in response to questions that the burden and responsibility for continued planning rests entirely in congress—nowhere else.

The house has refused to vote funds for continuing the work of the planning board, but the senate has taken no final action on the issue.

Mr. Roosevelt said the board had listed about $7,000,000,000 worth of public works to take up unemployment, which would affect a great many people upon demobilization and closing of war plants.

Muskeg — Army's Enemy of the North

Sign of a series of articles about the Alcan highway.

By SAM JACKSON, Associated Press Writer

EDMONTON, Alberta — Three times during my hitch-hike down the Alcan highway I was begged by utter strangers to take over a $12,000 Army truck and drive it south. That gives some idea of the informality of the road and the shortage of manpower.

But remembering the eight or ten unfamiliar gear shifts per truck, and some of the dizzy heights we had passed, I wanted, regretfully for Army drivers.

Trucks go through the 1,581 miles of the highway, but men do not. Every 50 miles or so, the driver checks his truck in by number and is asked a few questions.

"Any accidents?" "No."

"Cargo?" "Fourteen drums of gas."

"Condition of truck?" "Ain't got no brakes. Been a'win' gears."

All Local Drivers

It is probable that this man will stand by until a truck comes in which he can drive south to his own camp. After the defective brakes are fixed, the truck will head north, under a series of local drivers, until it reaches Fairbanks.

This system not only gives each man a home camp, but keeps him on a strip of road with which he is thoroughly familiar.

At Fort St. John and at Whitehorse I saw the Public Roads Administration stepping in to do its part, which is to turn the forest trails into a standard highway.

Substantial buildings have been erected, and one of the drafting rooms is the largest thing of its kind I have ever seen.

The two main jobs will be straightening it out to eliminate many curves and unusually steep grades, and is to put in a 36-foot oil surface. Most of it will be done by private contractors on a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee basis.

"You've noticed how many roads have been rerouted in the states?" said Frank E. Andrews, a government construction engineer. "Well, we're going to try to build this one right in the first place."

U. S. POPULATION on the MOVE

This is what has been happening to America's population since the official census of 1940. Based on department of commerce estimates through May 1, 1942, the number of men, women and children is 131,823,136.

a decline of 7,743. In migrations about the country, chiefly due probably to wartime industrial demands, eight states have had population changes of less than 1 per cent compared with the 1940 figures; 17 have had gains larger than 1 per cent, and 23 have lost. Nevada, which had the largest percentage gain, added only 18,708 persons, but in more heavily populated states greater population shifts made smaller percentage changes. Biggest gain was in Washington, D. C., with 163,680 more persons for a 24.9 per cent increase.

Ohio Women Voters
Oppose Labor Bill

Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., March 12—The Ohio League of Women voters today added its protest against the senate commerce and labor committee's bill relaxing female labor laws to relieve the wartime manpower shortage.

"We believe that a 52-hour week, 10-hour day for non-war production is too long and that under present conditions... is not necessary," the league asserted in a prepared statement.

The bill, recommended for passage by the senate committee, fixes a 32-hour week for women and provides for rationing of war plants to excess that limit.

The Ohio Congress for Industrial Organization and the American Federation of Labor previously voiced opposition to the measure.

PIG LOSSES HEAVY
IN MARCH FREEZEBut Kruse Believes State Will Meet Goal.

Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., March 12—Elmer F. Kruse, Ohio agriculture department chairman, expressed belief today Ohio would meet its increased 1943 pork quota despite recent losses of more than 100,000 because of severe weather.

"Recent surveys show that Ohio farmers intend to produce 32 per cent more pork," Kruse said. "It is my opinion that despite the unusual early March weather we will exceed our spring quota of pigs."

The agriculture department has requested a 10 per cent increase in Ohio pork production this year. Although figures on the pig death toll from near-zero temperatures were not available, an Ohio State university farm specialist said "it is safe to assume that thousands died soon after birth."

A large percentage of sows farrowed early in March and the specialist explained only immediate presence of the farmer and prompt preventive measures could offset the effect of freezing temperatures on new-born pigs. Agriculture specialists said some lambs might have died as a result of the recent cold snap, but pointed out the bulk of the lamb crop arrives late in March and in April.

PUMPS HANDY
By The United Press

SAN JOSE, Calif.—When, in the early days of the war, the Japanese scared Coast citizens into the fear that they might be raided and showered with bombs, they really helped the United States in the winning of the war. The initial scare resulted in the immediate creation of an industry for the manufacture of silt pump pumps for putting out incendiary bombs and fires. The pumps are now in universal use for raising victory gardens.

ENEMY ALIEN'S SON KILLED IN ACTION

Parents Still Unable To Become U. S. Citizens.

By International News Service. MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Refugees from Hitler and his persecution, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Binswanger of Los Angeles, parents of the late Corp. Peter O. Binswanger of Memphis, who gave his life in the defense of his country, are classed as "enemy aliens," but want to become citizens of the United States.

In writing of the death of their son in Africa November 9 last, Binswanger said:

"Here is one thing that will give us comfort and strength to carry on Peter fought for a just cause, a cause that is much bigger than we are—for maintenance of a world order—and the blessings of a mankind for a world where peace may ever last and where the ideals that made this country great and her people happy will never be thwarted by any party."

Corp. Binswanger, an American citizen, was brought to Memphis to work in July, 1933, by his cousin, Milton S. Binswanger, president of Binswanger & Co. He volunteered for the Army in April, 1941.

Before being brought to this country by the same cousin, the elder Binswanger headed a 109-year-old company in Germany. He had served for a time in a German concentration camp.

Goodwill Vs. Revolution

SPECULATION about the reason for discussion of the Russian problem at this time seems to run in all directions, except the obvious one, which is that the discussion may have opened itself.

Russia is an ally in this war of governments it systematically sought to undermine before war began. It is successor to the grief brought on the family of nations by the collapse of France, which it helped to weaken with its program of international revolution. It is at grips with Germany, where Communism guided from Moscow helped prepare the way for the Nazi counter-revolution that elevated Adolf Hitler to power.

The question is whether or not Russia, committed to a program of international revolution, can be allied with governments it has tried to undermine and presumably still hopes to overthrow. The question is whether or not the United States, specifically, can trust Russia and also whether Russians will be permitted to trust the United States by their political leaders.

Whatever may be the reason for discussing the matter now, it had to be discussed sometime. Perhaps this is as good a time as any. Americans admire Russia for what it is doing. They do not admire Russia for what it has tried to do in fomenting international revolution, and they loathe the domestic breed of Communists for their strangely divided allegiance. Eventually, a nation that needs allies and is urging them to greater efforts will have to decide whether it needs them enough to give them the consideration to which allies are entitled—ordinary goodwill.

School Systems in Wartime

CONVERSION of colleges to military training schools is only one aspect of the war service being performed by school systems. In every community the public school system has been called on for a wide variety of service.

Besides their normal functions, indispensable to themselves, schools have accepted an obligation to instruct pupils in the obligations of patriotism. They have participated in numerous wartime campaigns, such as salvage drives and War Bond selling. Their teachers have performed brilliantly in untangling the red tape that goes with rationing.

The ordinary school curriculum has been expanded to include instruction in a host of wartime subjects for both young persons and adults. Equipment for vocational training has been invaluable in development of needed skills. Day and night courses in everything from nursing to camouflage have been set up for public benefit. School buildings have provided housing for numerous activities in civilian defense and have been headquarters for rationing registrations handled according to school districts. The classroom and the auditorium, once known only by pupils, have been the meeting ground for parents taking first aid courses and instruction in protection from poison gas, bombs and fires. Literally, the school has become the forum for national defense.

The trend toward wider community use of school facilities which had started before the war has been accelerated. When the war is over, the habit of using them for general community purposes will be firmly established. The prospect of adult education through natural, popular demand never was brighter than it is now—when need is proving what schools mean to the community solidarity that is the secret of our national strength.

Revelation

TREASURY officials and members of the house ways and means committee may be moved to a certain amount of reflection by the American Institute of Public Opinion disclosure that a large minority of their countrymen don't understand the federal income tax well enough to know that they are supposed to file a return.

Some of the ignorance is willful. Most of it is accidental, the inevitable consequence of imposing a complex tax on millions of citizens with no previous experience in computing their liability. Since its introduction a generation ago millions of citizens have learned how to do this, but the broadening of the tax base in the 1942 revenue bill imposed an obligation that other millions still do not comprehend.

This situation was foreseen by proponents of an income tax reform to make payments of the tax obligatory at the source of income. Their argument was rejected arbitrarily by the so-called experts. What is happening now, with only a fraction of returns filed a few days before the income tax deadline on March 15, must be a revelation to some of the closed minds—if anything can penetrate their dense conviction that they alone know how income taxes should be paid.

News Behind the News

Fancy Post-War Philosophy Seen in Wallace Speech at Ohio Wesleyan.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, March 12—Vice President Wallace's erudite speech to the Ohio Wesleyan conference there on March 11, into the philosophical philosophy of post-war world, rolled down, it comes to this:

Russia is progressing from Communism toward democracy. Our democracy is progressing in the opposite direction toward Communism. We should meet at a place called "X"—and on that spot, a post-war world should be built.

Now, do not immediately conclude that this is a strained simplification of the Wallace philosophy, or that it is altogether unreasonable. It is true, for instance, that Stalin has been working away from Marxian Communism. The Russian system today is more of a Socialist than a Communist state.

On the other hand, the New Deal has proudly proclaimed its mild advance from democracy, as we used to know it, toward Socialism (Tennessee Valley Authority and various government enterprises of ownership and operation, and, to a lesser degree, the collectivist socialist philosophy of the taxation policies, AAA, NYA, social security, etc.).

Excerpt from Speech

Nor can there be any question about Mr. Wallace's hope that such progress, both in Russia and the United Nations, will continue, for he says:

"The future well-being of the world depends upon the extent to which Marxismism, as it is being progressively modified in Russia, and democracy, as we are adapting it to Twentieth century conditions, can live together in peace."

"Old line Marxismism has held that democracy . . . serves the cause of the common man with platitudes rather than with jobs, and that it is weak."

"And we, who believe in democracy, must admit that routine science, invention and technology have provided us with new bottles into many of which we have not yet poured the wine of the democratic spirit. . . . Democracy must be tremendously more efficient than it has been in the service of the common man and in the resistance to selfish group pressures."

If this seems so indefinite as to be confusing to you, you are probably in the same boat with Mr. Wallace. While he sees definitely the direction in which he wants to go, he cannot yet define where "X" is to be.

He does not know how far we are to go toward Marxismism and, therefore, cannot write the specifications in a clearer way that would be understandable to the general public.

From a Book?

All this sounds like it came out of a book, a very big book, and no doubt much of it did. Mr. Wallace's tramp back through the history of philosophy to prove that the German Hegel and the German Marx are the original philosophers of both Fascism and Communism may possibly be true. But it is hard to see how it can be that Mr. Wallace has somewhere named the single vast difference between the Russian and American systems.

Leaving all such philosophy aside, the man in the street knows what Russia stands for, and he knows what America stands for, and, therefore, he knows there is a sea between them more vast than any ocean on the map.

For one thing, the kind of Socialism Stalin represents is totalitarian. Democracy is anti-totalitarian. Stalin's Socialism is not that of freedom of the common man, but dictatorship by the worker. One form of government is against dictatorship by any group, worker, farmer, or rich.

It seems clear that Mr. Wallace has fooled himself, by reading all the books, into acceptance of a theory that any man in the street here can approve for himself by his personal knowledge without a book. Primarily Mr. Wallace is a politician, not a philosopher, and he is trying to find in philosophical history a common ground for his political purpose of bringing Russia and the United States together in the post war world.

But this kind of international soft-soaping is obviously not to lead the unwary thinker into the belief that Russia and the United States can join together in a common state after the war.

Stalin Realist

Obviously, Mr. Wallace had better consult Stalin and Churchill about that, because Stalin is a realist, if nothing else, and he knows, if Wallace does not, that his progress toward Socialism and ours still leaves us so far apart as not to be anywhere near adjacent.

This does not mean that the United States and Russia cannot live in complete peace with each other and in full friendliness in a post war world, each with its own internal political system. We can cooperate on a mutual basis of self-interest to keep peace in the world.

We simply cannot, for practical political reasons if no other, reach Mr. Wallace's "X," which seems to be half-way to Communism, and means to me to be half-way to Hitler.

A more democratic doctrine for the post-war world was suggested by Ohio's Governor Bricker. In a largely unnoticed speech the same day, he counseled a policy of "live and let live" in the truly democratic and Christian spirit for all nations, little and big, in the post war world—but protecting ourselves strongly at home.

At any rate, we can at least be clear now as to the cause of our confusion about the post war world. Our leaders do not know yet where they are going. They do not know where "X" is.

Naturally, they cannot define it with sufficient clarity to let anyone else become wholly unconfused.

Patents Await War's End

Inventors Still Busy with Variety of Ideas.

WASHINGTON, March 12—Could you use a pocket ash tray, an illuminating door lock, or a fan attachment for your sewing machine to keep your hand cool as you sew?

Patents for such developments have just been granted by the U. S. patent office but, in these days of priorities, you'll have to guess when they will be available. Applications for most of them were entered prior to Pearl Harbor.

That pocket ash may be the answer to a big problem to the housewife. If you couldn't find a regular ash tray, there would be no need of flicking your cigarette on the fly behind the radiator. All you'd have to do would be to take your own tray out of your pocket. It's a cup-shaped gadget with several trough-like little compartments to hold the ash. A small fan is placed outwardly for blowing the ash away.

The illuminating door lock is designed primarily for use by but, presumably, it might also be applied to your house door as a handy means of finding the keyhole on nights after you've been down to Joe's place playing seven-card stud.

It consists of push-button arrangement to turn on a tiny light close to the keyhole. You're entirely on your own so far as finding the push-button is concerned. The sewing machine gadget is simply a fan motivated by the fly wheel.

Other new patents cover a sword for a napping bottle with an attached chain which holds a nipple-cover and a spare safety pin.

An illuminating razor handle—and a combination shaving mug and a razor hone.

A helicopter propeller—and a "howlwhodness" concealing hose-siphoner.

No candidates for the better mouse-trap premium are among the inventors, but one chap got a patent for an electrically charged vacuum tray.

Bombs Over Boston?

Conjectures About Nazi Raid Run Both Ways.

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON, March 12—Will Nazi bombs fall on the U. S. A.? German threats of reprisals for the bombing of Berlin have revived that old controversy here in Washington. The fact that these threats specifically mentioned east coast cities in the United States (Boston, New York and Washington) caused OGD Director James M. Landis to caution civilians to hop to the business of preparing for any eventualities.

As for the air experts, there are some differences of opinion as to the probability of Nazi air raids, but those differences are a good deal less than a few months ago.

Effect On Morale

What could Germany gain by bombing the United States?

(1) A terrific morale weapon. Pictures of burning American cities carried in the Nazi press would give the German people a feeling that "isolated" America also was catching it. That would answer their demands for reprisals, and convince them that Nazi air power is capable of striking back.

(2) A raid would cause a clamor here to keep more interceptors and fighter planes at home, thus relieving some of our pressure in the air on the British, African and Pacific fronts. It also might force diversion of anti-aircraft weapons from vital theaters of war.

Those are powerful arguments in favor of the probability of long-range Nazi bombings. Furthermore, such long-range bombings, no longer need be classified as "suicide missions" for global war maps show that round trips with heavy bomb loads could be made to the east coast and even to midwestern cities.

Conjectures

On the other hand there are these conjectures:

Something is wrong with Nazi air power. No person who has followed day-by-day reports from Russia, North Africa and England can fail to conclude that the balance of air power has been steadily swinging away from the axis. Material, gasoline, or manpower shortages must exist somewhere.

If those shortages are now vital enough to cause the axis to divert its energies to construction of necessary war-front planes, submarines, or other materiel, rather than to long-range bombers there is little likelihood that the advantages to be gained by bombing the U. S. are strong enough to cause a change of war policy now.

In other words, the Nazi threats may be just that, designed to cause us to strengthen our home defenses at the expense of war front shipments.

Conservative air observers also think the increasing strain of getting bombers over here is just about offset by the desperation to supply Nazi home morale and stem the tide of our overseas shipments of planes and anti-aircraft guns.

Which desperation becomes upmost will determine whether we will or won't be bombed.

Microphonitis

In Our Judgment It Has Hurt Speaking Fatally and Listeners Should Be Spared.

By DAMON RUNYON

THE more I hear of public speaking I am depressed by the deterioration of the microphone. Speeches before public gatherings ought better be printed in pamphlet and distributed among the audience, the speaker appearing on the rostrum at all.

That is, unless the speaker is a nowadays who can step up to the microphone and carry the voice over the public system and rattle off his speeches word after word to manuscript. If he has his speech, which the average speaker, naturally, his pamphlet idea would rather of leg-weediness from standing up there members of the audience of great cores.

They would not have to interrupt the mess with the knife and fork and push their chairs to listen, but could push their pamphlet up in front of them with a dish, the way a man does with a newspaper at breakfast, and read the speech between if they did not fancy the speech, they throw it away, but they cannot the speaker away once he gets well mumbled into the mike.

If some of our citizens knew what they can do when they read a speech, they would be greatly embarrassed. I cannot stand why their best friends do not so that they may not again offend in manner. I am sure that most of them realize the distress they cause among the listeners, though I know a few who do not, but persist out of sheer maliciousness.

Practically all women should be forbidden the use of a mike at public assemblies, a prescription, their voices do not so mechanism and come out ghastly. I think the average lady who feels a speech coming on proposes reading it to an audience should be locked up until the spasm abates, although, of course this does not go for the honorable Mrs. Boothe Luce or the lady from China.

I rejoice in a windjammer who can so extemporaneously if he is loud and brief as turns a neat phrase, but where once this was legion (to coin one of those neat phrases in the United States, there are not half a dozen now. Our speakers no longer look you right in the eye and hurt their ringing sentences in your teeth, to continue the neat phrases. They keep their peepers on this M.S.S., and half the time they give you the impression that they are not even in the same hall with you.

HALF the time they stumble over the words in a manner that suggests they are seeing them for the first time. The speech you hear read over the radio are even worse because then you get the vocal inclemency of the speakers right in your kisser, including the clacking coughs, the pantings, the teeth clicking and other oral transmitted by radio by these heavy breathers of the air waves.

There are only three or four men who make oratory over the radio. Martin Dies of Texas is at least two of them. He probably reads a speech, too, but he makes them sound as if he was delivering them off the arm, or thinking them up as he goes along. President Roosevelt is not as good as he used to be on the radio because he has developed the radio monotonies that comes of reading speeches and rings in many clichés. But he is still better than most of them. If only for the reason that he general has something important to say.

The Taste for Horse

(From The New York Herald Tribune)

It was reported recently from Boston that a wholesale meat dealer there had Kansas horse meat for sale which would cost the consumer somewhat less than beef. A later report alleged that a first offering on the market has been snatched up by the consumers. It would be interesting to know who bought it, because although many persons of European upbringing might have no qualms about eating horse, it would imagine that it would be more difficult to persuade those of Anglo-Saxon origin to try it. For, while the average American is not a horse lover, the average English-speaking people is pure traditional and was hard enough to cultivate the beginning, the tradition is anywhere from 800 to 1,500 years old in northern Europe at the British Isles and, therefore, pretty rigid.

That aversion was assiduously cultivated among the Teutonic people between the fifth and twelfth centuries, because eating horse flesh was closely associated with heathenism and it was difficult for a man to revert to old practice and not revive the old superstitions.

The early Christian missionaries to the Germans, the Scandinavians and the Anglo-Saxons soon discovered that most of the backsliding among the newly baptized resulted from indulgence in horse, beast and witchcraft, even in communities in which images of heathen gods were set up outside Christian churches to attract those reluctant to abandon "the old law" a rigid taboo was put upon horse eating.

It would appear that the ancient Teutons liked nothing better. Prehistoric monuments of the indigenous forest horse have been found all over northern Europe to prove that these beasts were assiduously hunted and eaten, and the horse-eating habit naturally assumed that the gods would favor this diet, too. So, well down into historic times, horses were sacrificed, their meat was only offered to the gods, was devoted to the humans assembled at all gatherings. The association between heathenism, government, heathenism the early church attacked head-on and with such lasting effect that a Christian soon had as profound a horror of horse meat as a convert to Islam now has of pork. Islam adopted Christianity by an act of legislation the year 1000, and it is recorded that only a few years later one worthy seeking to pick a quarrel with another had only to allege that he was full of hereditary prejudice, and that he was all that stands in the way of Boston's eating of Kansas horse when beef is scarce.

Aid for Blinded Children

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—(INS)—The answer to the problem of bomb-shocked children lies in an artificial family, according to Mrs. Edna Blue of New York, executive of the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children.

"England has 41 hostels to aid blinded children," Mrs. Blue said while in Youngstown a few hours. "Reared in units of family form their own family units."

"What the children need most of all is affection. The artificial family provides companionship and security."

The foster parent may be an individual, school, club, church or civic group, willing pay $13 a month toward the support of the child and to write at least one letter a month to the child.

"A large number of our foster parents," Mrs. Blue said, "are just average American families to whom the $13 represents a real sacrifice. They are often over-generous with their aid."

Spring Expected To Bring Flight of Nazi Warbirds

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Where do Hitler's warplanes go in the winter-time, and will spring bring them winging back from the mysterious migration?

Dr. Watsons the world over are demanding an answer to this momentous question from harassed Sherlock Holmeses, and a lot of snug tobacco from the toe of the old shipper on the mantle is being smoked in an effort to reach a satisfactory solution.

Our secretary of War Stimson says a gratifying allied superiority in the air has been an important factor in the United Nations success in Tunisia. But, Colonel Stimson, why haven't the Germans renounced their fleet in that theater?

Day and night the Anglo-American bombers blast hell out of western Europe and Germany without drawing more serious retaliation than the Boche achieved over England early today. Berlin commentators explain indignantly that this unprecedented allied assault, so impressively described by British Air Secretary Sinclair in the house of commons yesterday, is possible only because the Luftwaffe has to be employed in Russia. Well, that's an answer of sorts, but it leaves a lot unexplained about a fleet which once ruled all Europe.

It's Not the Same

The fact is that the Nazi air navy of today isn't the same armada which roamed the skies at will a couple of years back, bombing all and sundry, while Hitler gnawed his fingernails in ecstasy and hung another medal on the fat chest of chief airman Goering. It passed its peak maybe a year ago and has been slipping down ever since.

Now I don't mean to give the impression the Luftwaffe has been knocked out. We undoubtedly shall hear more of it in due course, and probably shall find that it still packs terrific striking power. However, rat attacked it in earnest last summer and has continued its inroads.

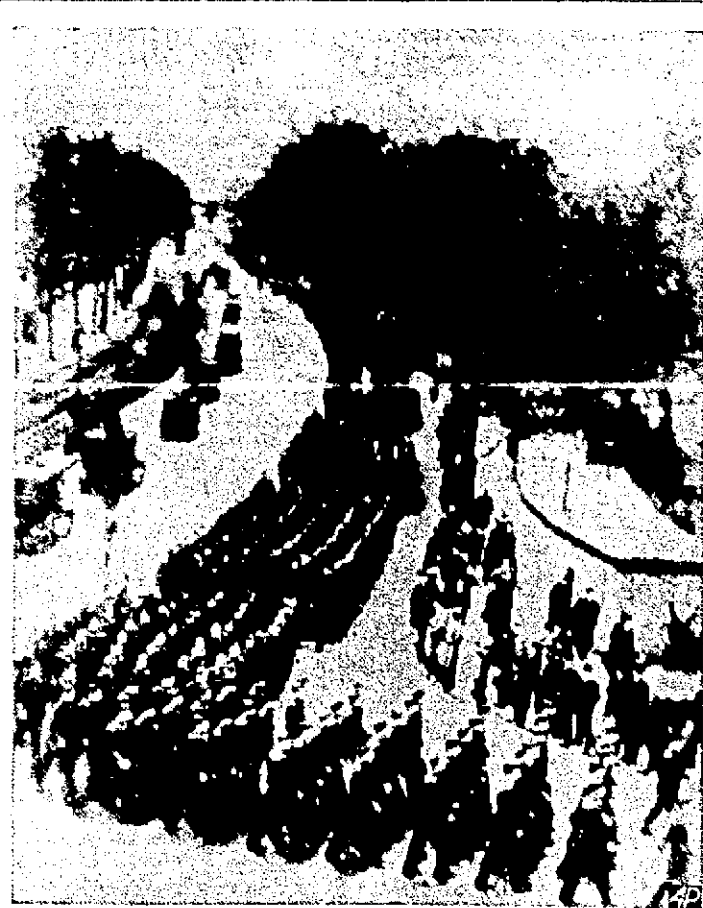

One important reason for Hitler's difficulty is that although he has been fighting a one-front war on the ground in Europe, he has been compelled to wage a two-front war in the air.

That's a thought worth pinning in your hat. It shows what a two-front attack by the allies can do. German air losses at the hands of the Russians have been appalling. Meantime British and American bombers have been destroying Nazi airplane factories and supply bases on the second front—wiping out enemy planes.

Hitler also is in need of suitable materials for manufacture of warplanes. This scarcity, coupled with a lack of equipment, has handicapped the Nazis in competing with the allies in manufacturing improved types of fighters and bombers.

Because of the losses in planes and the inadequacy in replacements the remaining fleet has been badly overworked. This means overhauling at the earliest possible moment, and it's a fair guess some of that is going on now.

The probabilities are Hitler is busy painting the much of his fleet in order that he is able to spare from the fighting fronts. Undoubtedly his factories are working overtime to produce as many new machines as possible before the good fighting weather of the spring arrives. We aren't hearing much about the Nazi air force now, but we are likely to hear plenty later on.

YANKS LEAD PARADE. As part of the "Wings for Victory" ceremony in London, these members of the American Air Force in England lead an Allied procession along the Thames embankment. ## Woman Pleads Guilty in Columbus Kidnaping

COLUMBUS, O., March 12—Mrs. Ruby Evelyn Cremins, 23, of Huntington, W. Va., pleaded guilty today to a federal charge of kidnaping eight-month-old Daniel Seaton from St. Ann's hospital infant asylum here Oct. 12.

Judge Moll Underwood directed E. H. Williams, probation officer, to investigate Mrs. Cremins' background, and announced he would sentence her next Thursday.

The court does not have in mind placing this woman on probation, said the judge. "The court feels it can better pronounce sentence with fuller knowledge of her history. # RED RADIO PRODS FOR SECOND FRONT

Cites Transfer of Troops from West to Russia.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 12—A Moscow English language broadcast, recorded by the Soviet Radio Moscow, said today that Hitler's transfer of troops from western Europe to the Russian front indicated he was "pretty confident that the present situation there (in the west) will continue for some time."

The broadcast, by the radio commentator known as "Viktorov," contained overtones of the Russian attitude toward the need for a second front.

The German manpower crisis is severe, Viktorov said, "but Hitler will manage to scrape some more divisions out of his satellites if he is given time."

From Turkey came reports Hitler already had called on his satellites to furnish more troops and workers as he feverishly planned a new offensive this year against Russia with 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 men.

A traveler who had just arrived in Turkey from Germany and who could not be identified by name was quoted in an Associated Press dispatch from Ankara as saying Hitler's new strategy called for destruction of Russian military strength rather than for conquest of key Russian cities and economic resources.

Germans in Turkey, it was said, were being called home for military service before the end of March.

The Ankara dispatch also quoted reports from Ankara as saying the Germans were building anti-tank defenses four rows deep between Grecian Thrace and Macedonia against an allied invasion, and nearly 300 planes were shifted from Athens' Tatoi airport toward the African front.

INCOME TAX

hope it will help finish the war quickly.

Some Helpful Information

Here are a few bits of information offered by the Marion deputies for the help of persons who have not yet filed returns:

Monday midnight is the deadline for filing returns. While there have been announcements of leniency in the deadline for payments, there is no extension of the deadline for returns.

Persons whose gross income does not exceed $1,200 (for married persons) or $800 (for single persons) need not file returns. Many Marionites have had the wrong idea that everyone must file a return.

The Marion office is located in room 7 at the rear of the second floor of the Citizens' building on the northeast corner of Center and Prospect streets.

The office will be open from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. Saturday and from 8 a. m. to midnight Monday. It will be open until 8 o'clock tonight.

You may pay either all of the income tax or one-fourth of it when the return is filed. Most people are paying only the first quarterly installment in view of pending pay-as-you-go legislation.

Report Many Refuse To File Returns

CLEVELAND, O., March 12—Thousands of war plant workers in the Cleveland area are refusing to file income tax returns, according to a report by the Internal Revenue collector, Frank F. Gentsch, collector of internal revenue declared today.

With the number of returns to date showing a decrease of 30 per cent from the corresponding period last year, Gentsch said lawyers touring war plants to aid workers in filling out income tax forms reported a rebellious undercurrent.

"They tell me," Gentsch revealed, "that thousands of workers, approached on the matter of making out returns, have replied point blank, 'They have replied, 'Let the government come and get me. I'm not going to file.'"

"There is only one thing left to us in those cases," Gentsch said, "gather up the evidence and take it to the United States attorney. Those who willfully refuse to file returns or who willfully fail to pay their taxes are liable to a fine up to $10,000 or imprisonment of from one to 10 years, or both."

"Besides," he said, "we can place a lien against their property and their wages and collect."

"We are not anxious to put people in jail, but if they will not obey the law there is no alternative."

The income tax deadline is March 15.

Prairie areas were on duty and the inspector reported the community participation was extremely good. In view of the fact that it was the first mobilization and there have been no "incidents" staged to check the efficiency of the workers.

Caledonia likewise participated in its first mobilization and was praised by the inspectors, who promised them "incidents" galore at the next countywide dimout to test the effectiveness of the volunteers in preparation for the area blackout in the near future.

Eighty persons, 100 per cent of the present enrollment, were on duty. The organization will be enlarged in the near future.

Ninety-nine per cent of the personnel covering the Prospect township and village and Pleasant township area, responded to the mobilization. Only one of 100 workers was not on duty.

The inspections of the areas was made as follows:

Caledonia, including Martel, Claridon and Kirkpatrick, William R. Martin and W. R. Belchoustein, Green Camp, O. E. Hamilton and Jack Danner.

Waldo, Cecil Gabler and E. J. Boor.

Prospect, L. G. Jones and Jay Newell.

LaRue, Agosta-Meeker, Charles Howard and Jewell-Ralston.

Morral, Salt Rock-Grand Prairie, Mrs. Ione Lane and W. E. Orent.

Patrol On Job

Members of the state highway patrol and the patrol-auxiliary of American Legion men, reported few incidents in their work at points where important state highways enter Marion county.

Lack of knowledge of the signals was given by the patrol as probably the chief reason for most of the instances where lights were found burning in homes. In one home the lights weren't off and the patrol rounded the siren. A woman opened the door and stood framed in the light. The patrol car turned, set the siren sound, and sped back toward the farm house. In a trice the house was so dark it could not be distinguished on the landscape, the patrol reported.

Sheriff J. W. Harritt and his deputies remained on duty in his office at the county jail ready to respond to emergency calls or for police work. There were no calls received at the jail in connection with the dimout, the sheriff reported.

Rickenbacker Sees Army of 15 Millions Needed

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, March 12—Because of the various theaters of war, the United States will have to put 15 million men into uniform before victory is achieved by the United Nations, says Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker.

He said the United States was the only country among the allied nations having "plus" fighting manpower.

"It is going to take 15 million American men in uniform to win this war," Rickenbacker said last night at a meeting sponsored by the national foundation for education in American citizenship.

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 12—Paul J. Maher, president of the Springfield trades and labor assembly, said a protest would be lodged today with the Ohio general assembly over its invitation for Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker to address the lawmakers.

Maher said the labor body adopted a resolution protesting the assembly's invitation on the ground that the chairman's "anti-labor prejudices prevent him from being a true spokesman for America's fighting men."

RATIONING

Red coupons good for meat and its companion items and the blue coupons continuing to be used for fruits and vegetables. The next points will be announced in about two weeks.

All Meats Included
Meat rationing will apply to all products — fresh, cured, smoked or frozen — of cattle, calves, sheep, lambs and swine. Not rationed, will be poultry, game, horsemeat, fresh or other fish not contained in sealed cans or bottles, and inedible fats, such as soap.

Cheese rationing will cover most types except cottage, pot and similar soft or perishable cheeses. If divided evenly, the cheese supply under rationing would provide each person with about one-tenth of a pound a week, but this is expected to vary widely according to individual tastes.

Similarly, the butter supply will average about 4 1/2 ounces a person per week, but anyone will be able to buy more or less as he desires within his total of 16 points per week for all of the items on the new ration list. Margarine, shortening, salad oils and canned salmon or tuna fish are other items in this group.

To the general public, officials said, the new program will appear much simpler than was the canned goods program earlier this month. There will be no registration, no count of food already on hand, and — under present plans — no suspension of sales before rationing begins, especially on meat. Brown pat the public on its honor not to hoard any of the new rationed items, and said careful watch would be kept so that sales of shortening, for instance, might be suspended for a few days if people fail to buy sensibly.

Trimming Expected
Butchers will be expected to trim bone and fat according to "normal standards," but generally speaking it will be up to the customer to enforce this rule by taking his patronage to another store if dissatisfied. Where a type of meat such as spare ribs naturally has an excess of bone or other waste, OPA will compensate for the loss of setting low point values.

Because meat cutting cannot be exact, coupon costs will be figured to the nearest full point value. A piece of meat that figured to 9 1/2 coupon points, for instance, would cost 9 points. If it figures 9 3/4, points it would be counted as 10 points. If the butcher cuts a heavier piece than ordered, that's between him and the customer to argue about, but the customer must pay in coupon points for all he actually buys.

The point values of prunes and raisins were cut from 20 to 12 points a pound to stimulate sales of existing stocks before warm weather causes spoilage. Point cost of dried beans, peas and lentils was lowered from 8 to 4 points a pound because of improved supplies especially due to imports from Mexico.

President Nominates Two for Lieutenant Generals

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 12 — President Roosevelt yesterday nominated two officers who have played leading roles in the North African offensive to be lieutenant generals.

They are Maj. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, commander of the allied air force in North Africa, and Maj. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., commander of armored divisions there.

Spaatz, 51, assumed command of the air force Jan. 9 shortly after its creation and retained his post as air officer on the staff of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, allied commander-in-chief in North Africa.

Patton, widely known for his colorful vocabulary, served as aide to General Pershing on the Mexican expedition prior to World War I. He is 57.

Girl Scouts on 31st Birthday Open Drive for Adult Leaders

Anniversary Featured by Appeal for More Volunteer Workers.

The Girl Scouts of Marion are joining more than half a million sister Scouts throughout the United States in celebrating today the thirty-first anniversary of the founding of Girl Scouting in the United States.

Miss Ruth Kramer, Girl Scout deputy commissioner in Marion, helped arrange observance of the occasion today, and announced that nation wide plans for the celebration included the opening of a campaign to enlist more adult volunteer leaders, in which the Marion Girl Scout Council is making plans to take part.

"It is very appropriate to combine a campaign for troop leaders with a celebration of the day thirty-one years ago, when Juliette Low organized the first Girl Scout troop," Miss Kramer said. "Mrs. Low believed that the Girl Scout program would be of such great benefit to the girls of the nation that she was willing to make great personal sacrifices to bring it to them. After 31 years, we know what Girl Scouting means to and does for girls. We believe that we can do a real wartime job for our country by opening Girl Scout training to even more girls than are now enrolled. To do this we need the services and support of many more adults. In the name of the Marion Girl Scout Council and Leaders' Association, I urge every woman to volunteer her assistance in expanding our services and training to the girls of Marion."

Girls on Waiting List
Pointing out that present adult membership of 75 is pressed to carry on the activities of Marion's 326 Girl Scouts, Miss Kramer said there are about 30 girls on troop waiting lists and many more who have indicated they would like to be Scouts if they could. The goal of the local leadership campaign is "500 or more by '44"—that means 500 Girl Scouts. It is estimated at least 20 more leaders would be needed to enlarge the Marion Girl Scout organization.

MISS RUTH KRAMER

tion to include all the girls who want to join.

"In addition to leaders and assistant leaders, we need women to serve as consultants and troop committee members. There are jobs for men, too, as troop consultants, or advisers on special crafts or activities," Miss Kramer said. "The number of girls we can serve is in direct proportion to the number of adults who are willing to give their time and effort to them."

Plans for the leadership camaign, include, besides the usual channels of newspaper, radio, and poster publicity, a window exhibit at Uhl's department store, a "recruiting office," also in Uhl's, and talks before various clubs in town to present the need of more leaders for girls.

One-Week Campaign

The local campaign will be an intensive one for the week of March 12-19, but the national campaign will continue throughout the year, under the slogan of "A Million or More by '44."

The following members of the Girl Scout Council will serve on the campaign committee: Mrs. Ernest O. Smith, in charge of club contacts and speakers; Mrs. John M. Gardner, recruiting booth; Mrs. Richard Myers, newspaper, radio and window publicity; Mrs. Ellis Houghton, follow-up of all contacts; Mrs. J. E. Frew, training of new volunteers; Miss Kramer, general chairman of the campaign.

Propose Time Change at Upper Sandusky

Special to The Star
UPPER SANDUSKY, March 12 —The Upper Sandusky Ministerial Association has recommended to the churches of Upper Sandusky that they change to Ohio time, Sunday, March 21, and at the same time the Sunday school opening from 9:30 to 9 a. m. and the worship to 10 o'clock. The action was taken, they said, in view of the fact that the court house and schools will be on the slow time even though the Upper Sandusky council, in response to petitions received from citizens here, voted to remain with Eastern War time when the state law passed. The three banks have also announced they will switch to Ohio time, Saturday morning, March 13, in "accordance with the Ohio time law."

Harding Cagers Prepare for Tourney Game With Delaware Saturday

Prexies Slight Favorites To Win Way On the Local Front To Finals Game with Newark.

While most sections of the Marion area are aware of the fact that the Central district Class A team is scheduled to play the Delaware team in the finals of the tourney, only a few realize that the team is not only a contender for the title, but also a contender for the title of the tourney.

A close contest is expected in the game, as Delaware, which won only 13 out of 20 games during the regular season, is expected to be a tough opponent.

While Walsh has been setting the tournament record, Harding, likewise, has created considerable excitement, especially the Prexies, who are expected to be a tough opponent.

NOTRE DAME-PITT SERIES RENEWED

Panthers Added After Irish Scratch Stanford.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, March 12—It took a World War to do it, but Pitt and Notre Dame are renewing one of the gridiron's most colorful series next fall after a lapse of six years.

Jimmy Hagan, athletic director at the University of Pittsburgh, announced the two teams would clash here on Sept. 25 in the first game of the year for each team.

"It's a one-year agreement, but may be extended," Hagan commented.

For Notre Dame, the Panthers replace Stanford, which had to be dropped because of war-time travel difficulties. The Irish also substituted the Iowa Sea Hawks at South Bend Nov. 20 for Southern California. The Pitt contest filled their 10-game card.

Pitt's schedule hasn't been changed, but Hagan said some of its games, notably with Nebraska and Southern Methodist, might have to be scratched.

center. The impact threw the crates of chickens forward, smashing the crates and killing all but a few of the chickens. The patrol estimated the value of the chickens at several hundreds of dollars. Damage to the gas truck was estimated at about $75 and to the chicken truck, $150. Neither driver was hurt.

Eight Involved
Eight Kenton persons were involved, but none was hurt seriously, in an accident at 6:45 a. m. today on Route 30-S, a mile west of Meeker. All the cars were enroute to Marion where the drivers and passengers are employed.

According to the patrol report cars driven by Cora Harshman of Kenton and Albert Shaw sideswiped and a third car driven by Fred Titus of near Kenton hit the Shaw car.

Mr. Titus' lip was cut and Thelma Risch, a passenger in the Harshman car, suffered a sprained ankle when she slipped and fell while attempting to signal traffic.

Mr. Shaw told patrolmen that a few minutes earlier, at the junction of Route 30-S and 37, he had been driving along slowly and the Harshman car ran into his car, knocking off the taillight.

Other passengers in the Harsh-man car were Mrs. Tressa Roach, Eva Harshman, Luella Van Skel and Flossie Wehner, all of Kenton. Damage to the cars was not extensive, according to the patrol report.

Fenders were damaged when a county automobile driven by Elmer Ullom of 312 North Main street, dog warden, and a car driven by Robert W. Harvey of near Marion, were involved in an accident last night at 6:15 on Route 4, a short distance south of Marion.

DOUGH GOES ON RAMPAGE

By The United Press
SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Thousands of pounds of dough in a giant mixer at a local bakery went on rampage and showed just what dough can do. The dough was just ready to be mixed when a storm cut off the electrical current to the mixture. With the bakers standing by unable to do anything about it, the dough began to "rise" of its own inherent rising power. It rose and rose, until finally it rose entirely out of the mixer, pushed against a big window and eventually landed on the sidewalk below, carrying with it the mixer, broken glass, window and part of the wall.

KITCHEN BLITZ

By The United Press
OAKLAND, Calif.—Peter Asa-novich, 65, has asked for divorce on the grounds that his wife, after ordering him out of the kitchen, laid down a kitchen barrage against which he had no adequate, modern means of defense. She started, he alleges, with the coffee pot, then the coffee cup, then the stove lid—all of which failed to connect. But with a milk bottle and the toaster she had better luck and he went down for the count. Hence, the desire for divorce.

OPPOSES LONGER HOURS

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, March 12.—Dr.
William P. Edmunds, Cleveland area director of the war-manpower commission, expressed opposition to a 48-hour work week here on the ground that any change incentive for workers to leave

COLLEGES BOW TO WAR NEEDS

Emphasize Courses That Aid
Most in Meeting Demands of Armed Services.

By PATRICK KIERNAN
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — Colleges were likened to armed camps in the 37th annual report of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, made public by Dr. Walter A. Jessup, president of the foundation.

Dr. Jessup said medicine, dentistry, nursing, physics and chemistry have preference over other courses of study.

Colleges always have been in competition with one another, Dr.
Jessup said, but now they have an additional competitor in the government, which demands consistent and creditable work every day.

War Courses Added
Dr. Jessup explained that a college must be measured by its capacity to contribute to the mobilization of manpower. Under this pressure colleges have to add many fresh and specific courses bearing on the war, he said, and at the same time look anew at its requirements for admission, to make certain that the college is not being used as a haven for the drafted.

"Schools of engineering have had to face the fact that, roughly, one-third of the engineering students in the country fail to graduate. This year many colleges have admitted only students whose past records indicated almost certain success and hence have superseded college entrance board examinations as bases for admission.

Law School Suffers
"The law school and the graduate college suffer from lack of both students and staff. Certain departments, such as philosophy and German, have been practically decimated. On the other hand, mathematics classrooms and physics laboratories are crowded.
Even the football coaches have been taken over."

Dr. Jessup said it was impossible to forecast the state of the colleges after the war.

"Certain it is that the colleges will reflect the values of our morrow as they have of our past," he wrote. "The pattern for proceed-ure will be set by a small group of some 20 or 30 institutions.

New Pensions Operative
"These in turn will adopt their pattern, after vigorous debate based on intimate contact with the world, modified by their experience."

The report disclosed that in the year ended on June 30 last the Carnegie Foundation expended $1,924,308 for retirement allowances and pensions, a decrease of $5,134 from the preceding year. A total of 152 new allowances and pensions became operative during the year and 114 retired teachers, whose average age was 66.79 years, received new allowances averaging $880.
